

Tech for All

Founded on the mission of bringing technology to all.

For over 20 years, our international accessibility and universal design firm has served everyone from small organizations to Fortune 500 corporations.

We don't just find problems—we solve complex software and hardware accessibility challenges using real-world universal design principles.

Where inclusive design means good business

Digital Accessibility

Ensure your digital products and assets are inclusive, compliant, and barrier-free. We provide user-focused evaluations across websites, mobile apps, digital documents, and e-publications to achieve conformance with WCAG standards. Through manual testing and assistive technology audits, we deliver clear remediation support, content fixes, and official documentation like Accessibility Conformance Reports.

Kiosk & Self-Service

Whether you are launching a new product or refining an existing system, we provide the industrial design and interface guidance necessary for universal access. We conduct a rigorous gap analysis to identify roadblocks and deliver solutions for physical access, tactile input, and speech output. Most importantly, we test directly with end users with disabilities.

Team Training

Empower your internal teams to build, test, and sustain inclusive experiences independently. We deliver customized, role-based training programs that embed modern accessibility habits directly into everyday business workflows. By teaching developers, designers, and content creators how to proactively catch errors, your team learns to manage compliance on their own.

Strategy & Risk

Build a mature, sustainable accessibility program from the ground up. We collaborate with leadership to define clear compliance policies, establish operational governance, and chart actionable technology roadmaps. As respected authorities, we also provide legal risk assessment, neutral third-party compliance monitoring, and expert testimony to protect your organization.
